Tot-Net, a professional cleaning services company with more than 60 years of experience in Spain, has consolidated its participation in the United Nations Global Compact, an international initiative intended to encourage the integration of sustainability criteria into business activities.

The Global Compact, an initiative of the United Nations, is the largest sustainability initiative in the world. Its framework is based on ten universal principles covering human rights, labour standards, environmental protection and the fight against corruption. Membership also encourages contributions towards achieving the 17 Sustainable Development Goals of the 2030 Agenda.

The strategy of Tot-Net incorporates these principles into multiple areas of its management, ranging from working conditions to business ethics and supply chain responsibility. The company, which has offices in Catalonia, Madrid and Castile and León, promotes communication of these values among its professional teams to strengthen its corporate culture.

In its operations, the company has implemented various measures to reduce its environmental impact and optimise the resources it uses. Key actions include obtaining ISO 14001:2015 environmental certification, gradually electrifying its vehicle fleet, regularly measuring its carbon footprint and monitoring water and chemical consumption. Tot-Net also promotes the digitalisation of processes to minimise paper use and carries out preventive maintenance on its machinery.

The organisation's progress on sustainability is reflected in its external assessments. In 2026, Tot-Net achieved an EcoVadis Silver Medal with a score of 76 out of 100, placing it among the top 7% of companies in its sector worldwide. This result improves on the Bronze Medal the company received in 2024.

Commenting on this progress, Antonio Lobato Prados, head of Tot-Net's Integrated Management System, said: "Being part of the United Nations Global Compact strengthens our commitment to responsible business management. At Tot-Net, we see sustainability as an ongoing effort that involves incorporating environmental, social and ethical criteria into our activities and applying them throughout the organisation."

With more than six decades of activity, Tot-Net remains committed to incorporating sustainability criteria into its services, with an approach that respects the environment and people.
